The Toyota Mobility Foundation's
$4 million Mobility Unlimited Challenge needs your help to transform the lives of people with lower limb paralysis through groundbreaking assistive technology.

To support early-stage innovators,
we will be awarding ten
$50,000 DISCOVERY AWARDS
to teams with promising ideas who require funding to develop their entry.

KEEP IN MIND:

You'll need to convince the judges...

that your concept, if brought to market, could radically improve mobility and independence for people with lower-limb paralysis.

Entries should be user-centric and built on universal design principles to create a more equitable environment.

You won't need a physical prototype,

a complete team or a full prototype roadmap to apply for a Discovery Award.

You won't need to give up any Intellectual Property to receive a Discovery Award.

The Discovery Award will be used to fund your entry for a Finalist Development Grant.

If your team already has the funding and expertise needed to develop your entry, enter the main Challenge instead.

Applications for the main Mobility Unlimited Challenge are due by August 15, 2018.
